Men, Planes, Gas And Bombs All On Hand Ready To Pulverize Germany

ALL-OUT ATTACK URGED

Industries Of Reich Can Not Stand Winter Blow, Solon Declares

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9-Sen. Sheridan Downey (D) Calif., disclosed today he has been informed that the United Nations now have the air power to blast Germany prostrate by June 1 at the latest and probably sooner.

Downey said "the men, planes, gasoline and explosives necessary for 1,000 plane raids on German cities every two days are now available at strategic points." He urged that such an all-out air offensive be started now.

"Winter is coming on," Downey said. "Many of Germany's great war production centers are in areas where production cannot continue in bitter cold when water mains, sewers, gas lines and other utilities are completely disrupted by a rain of falling bombs.

Early Attack Urged

"We should strike now - and harder than ever. It may easily be that Germany already is at the point where England once waswhere ten days more of bombing HOUSE TAX BILL would have meant the end."

Downey said he had noticed lately that the brunt of major bombing over Germany had been Final carried on by the Canadian and British Air Forces, while American airmen were attacking "only around the fringes."

"It seems to me that we should utilize the joint power of all the United Nations to strike devastating and prostrating blows as mittee were uncertain today quickly and as often as possible," Downey declared.

"If Germany has peace feelers out-as some seem to think the Nazis have-then action will follow quickly after repetition of such attacks as those on Berlin."

Holds No Doubts

Downey said he did not want to "go out on a limb and predict the coming of peace on a given date" but that heads of both British and American air forces have also said they can wipe out German cities with air power.

"It is just a question of how much of our power we use and (Continued on Page Two)

Soviet Admits Statement As Proposal Worthy Of Full Consideration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9-It was learned authoritatively today that the United States government has made known to Great Britain and Russia the view that steps should be taken after the war to hasten the granting of eventual political freedom to the peoples of colonial and other imperial possessions.

Although nothing was said about it publicly at the time, Secretary of State Cordell Hull submitted a formal statement of the American government's views on this question at the Moscow conference.

The American statement advocated progressive measures to make the dependent peoples of the world eligible for freedom and selfgovernment as rapidly as possible.

British Reluctant

The British representatives are understood to have been somewhat reluctant to have the colonial issue injected into the Moscow conference. Reoccupy Vital City After Yank Planes Soften Enemy

By International News Service A formidable new Red Army offensive was reported in the making today along a 150-mile front in the Drieper bend.

Front dispatches said the Soviet high command is devleoping a new drive which threatens to roll up the German defense lines from the vital rail junction of Znamenka, southwest of Kremenchug. to the lower Dnieper city of Nikopol. Snamenka is already virtually encircled as a result of the severance by Russian columns of the railroads to Smela, in the northwest, and Nikolaev and Krivoi Rog in the south. The British radio termed the severance of the line joining the

Washington C. H. Inquiry Continues, But Clues Prove Elusive

Stockman, But Denies Slaying Women

(Special to The Herald) WASHINGTON C. H., Dec. 9-A stalemate has been reached in the investigation surrounding the elaying of the Elmer McCoy famlly Thanksgiving eve.

"The investigation is proceeding quietly," Prosecutor John B. Hill declared today, "with nothing developing of sufficient importance to announce at this time."

The prosecutor indicated that the web of evidence is being drawn more tightly about James W. Collett, Clinton county farmer and brother-in-law of McCoy, who has admitted killing the Fayette county hog breeder, but has denied knowledge of the murders of Mc-Coy's wife and daughter at almost the same time. Revolver Mystery

Reports were current today in Washington C. H. that ownership of the second gun has not been definitely established. Bullets from a .32 caliber and a .38 caliber were used by the murderer. It is not certain, authorities say, whether the second gun was one McCoy carried in the glove compartment of his car, or whether the killer took it there with him. Collett told officers that on Saturday prior to the crime while he was hunting with Elmer McCoy that McCoy had opened the glove compartment to take out some cigars. He saw a .32 caliber automatic in the compartment at that time, Collett says.

Collett claims the revolver he used to kill McCoy was hanging in the barn, the Clinton county man saying he grabbed it after McCoy had swung at him with a

Six Institutes Held

Six Farm Institutes were conducted with total attendance of 7,-696 persons.

The extension office helped 247 farmers in obtaining temporary or fulltime laborers for their farms. Twenty-seven were aided in obtaining tenants.

One hundred and fifty-four dairy herds, or 1,487 cattle, were tested for tuberculosis; 37 herds with 751 cattle were tested for Bangs disease.

Two hundred and sixty-eight draft deferment cases for farm classifications were acted on by the office in cooperation with U. S. D. A. War Board, and 404 replacement schedules were filled out for men on the farms who have 2C and 3C classifications.

A PROPHET REMEMBERED

THEY held a memorial meeting in Cleveland the other day for Newton D. Baker, brilliant lawyer, self-sacrificing publicist, and war secretary in the last war. His friend and co-worker Walter Lippman, who in some ways takes Baker's place more than any other man, was there with other distinguished men to honor his memory and give fresh emphasis to his ideals.

Baker was an unusual combination of scholar, jurist, public servant, idealist and humanitarian, but is now remembered, perhaps, mainly as a prophet. He was saddened by the withdrawal of America from world affairs after the last war, and foresaw that it would result in another great and terrible war to get the job done. He spoke clearly for international cooperation at a time when, from some curious twist of American thinking, millions of Americans seemed to regard any teamwork with censorship. He readily admitted that there foreign nations as perilous.

People of more normal races find themselves perplexed as the big war in Europe rushes toward some tremendous climax. More and more, the center of this great fire, which is Germany itself, seems to shrink back upon itself. The Germans must know well by this time that they cannot win, that they are doomed if they continue fighting much longer. Soon their outer defenses will be broken and the noose will tighten around them. They are sure to suffer greater and greater blows and priva- lic sponsor. tions. What then?

The natural assumption is that they will surrender. But would Hitler ever surrender? Or indeed would the nation of young fanatics trained by him surrender? Or the veteran Prussian generals, whose whole training and tradition is war?

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

CRITICISM OF CENSORSHIP

WASHINGTON—Secretary of the Navy Knox heard some blistering comments on the Navy's handling of war news at a closed-door pow-wow with the house appropriations committee recently. Plaintalking Representative Harry Sheppard of California, who presided at the meeting, raised Cain about the suppression of legitimate war stories as well as unwarranted delays in the clearance of news releases.

Sheppard asserted that the best way to make sure the public did not believe the lies of Axis propagandists was for the government to give them more facts about combat developments. The American public can take it, Sheppard said—the bad news with the good. He also sharply criticized the withholding of stories from the battle fronts for long periods before their release is officially approved by Navy censors. It was brought out that some news dispatches had been held up for six months and more before being released.

"The public is entitled to know what's going on, both on the battle and the production front," said Sheppard. "For that matter, the Navy itself stands to benefit by a more liberal and intelligent public-relations policy. I have no doubt that many stories have been censored which would reflect great credit on the splendid job the Navy is doing in this war."

DISEASES HAVE a way of appearing and disappearing. I do not mean a new disease that is discovered. Nor do I mean fashions in names of diseases, such as neurasthenia. I mean old-familiar liseases known long ago.

For instance, scarlet fever. In 1850 the death rate from scarlet ever was 10 per cent of all cases and in some epidemics it rose to of per cent. It was almost as prevalent among children as measles is today. But now scarlet fever is a very rare disease. And, furthermore, it is so mild as hardly to require treatment.

Another example is influenza. We had an epidemic of influenza n 1918-1922 that for virulence had not been equalled since 1889. Since then every time anyone has a bad cold it is called influenza, but I have never seen a real case of influenza since 1922.

Virus of Influenza

They claim to have found the virus of influenza, but I doubt if any of the young bacteriologists who claim to have found the cause ever saw a real case of influenza. mean real bull influenza. And I dould if the cause of that has been found. It may appear again in another 30 years after the last epidemic-say 1950. But why, how or where does it go between epidemics?

Still another disease I am most interested in is gout. Back in the seventeenth century it must have been very prevalent. Two of the greatest physicians of the time suffered from it-William Harvey, the discoverer of the circulation of the blood used to go up on the roof of his house and rest his bare feet on the leads to cool them. And Thomas Sydenham, a con-temporary, sat in the window of his house and rtuck bis bare feet out into the open for relief, waving I trine on this.

Only a month ago they had been making clothes and fixing a trunk for Andrea to take away.

Something hot burned in Beth's eyes and would have spilled had she not got a grip on herself. A year ago they had been three, Andrea and Jim and herself. Another year they would be three, too, she and Andrea and the baby. And where would they all be then?

Dinner was at four and, because there was an early winter dusk Marion had lighted tall tapers that flickered over the table. Deep red roses, like dusky red velvet, nestled in moss green leaves. A parade of white waxen angels marched in a circle around the flower bowl. A PROPHET REMEMBERED

THEY held a memorial meeting in Cleveland the other day for Newton D. Baker, brilliant lawyer, self-sacrificing publicist, and war secretary in the last war. His friend and co-worker Walter Lippman, who in some ways takes Baker's place more than any other man, was there with other distinguished men to honor his memory and give fresh emphasis to his ideals.

Baker was an unusual combination of scholar, jurist, public servant, idealist and humanitarian, but is now remembered, perhaps, mainly as a prophet. He was saddened by the withdrawal of America from world affairs after the last war, and foresaw that it would result in another great and terrible war to get the job done. Plaintalking Representative Harry Sheppard of California, who presided at the meeting, raised Cain about the suppression of legitiper year, $4 in advance; Zones one and two, $5 per mate war stories as well as unwarranted delays in the clearance of news releases.

> Sheppard asserted that the best way to make sure the public did not believe the lies of Axis propagandists was for the government to give them more facts about combat developments. The American public can take it, Sheppard said—the bad news with the good. He also sharply criticized the withholding of stories from the battle fronts for long periods before their release is officially approved by Navy censors. It was brought out that some news dispatches had been held up for six months and more before being released.

"The public is entitled to know what's going on, both on the battle and the production front," said Sheppard. "For that matter, the Navy itself stands to benefit by a more liberal and intelligent public-relations policy. I have no doubt that many stories have been censored which would reflect great credit on the splendid job the

DEADLINE NEAR FOR PAYING OF INCOME TAXES

Farmers Required To Make Report On Earnings For Current Year

ANSWERED QUESTIONS

Provided For Instructions Proper Filling Of Federal Forms

Many Pickaway countians are expected to file income tax declarations by December 15, Circleville postal officials announcing that a supply of the necessary blanks is available.

Persons who must file December 15 include those who paid half of their 1943 tax when they filed a declaration of estimated income in September, farmers who have not filed declarations for 1943, and others who are required to file amended reports.

Farmers, who did not need to file a report in September, must file by December 15 and must pay the full tax at that time.

Persons whose incomes have extent that the estimate made at that time may be more than 20 percent too low must submit an amended declaration and pay the nigher tax or face penalties next March.

The following questions and answers concerning the December 15 deadline were submitted today by the Treasury department;

Christmas Lighting

J. A. Krug, Director of the Office of War Utilities has asked that Christmas lighting decorations be confined to Christmas trees inside private homes.

Mr. Krug asked that street decorations, community Christmas trees. exterior home decorations and interiors and exteriors of commercial establishments disperse with decorations this year insofar as lighting is concerned.

"Government and industry have combined in a nationwide conservation campaign to save critical fuels and materials necessary to produce electricity," he said.

"I am asking the American people to refrain from their Christmas lighting custom as a part of that campaign. Electric light bulbs are particularly short at present and street conservation of them is necessary. Widespread consumption of bulbs during the Christmas season merely will mean a greater scarcity later on.

exterior home decorations and interiors and exteriors of commercial establishments disperse with decorations this year insofar as lighting is concerned.

"Government and industry have combined in a nationwide conservation campaign to save critical fuels and materials necessary to produce electricity," he said.

"I am asking the American people to refrain from their Christmas lighting custom as a part of that campaign. Electric light bulbs are particularly short at present and street conservation of them is necessary. Widespread consumption of bulbs during the Christmas season merely will mean a greater scarcity later on.

"Because of the shortness of daylight over most of the country at Christmas time, necessary consumption of electricity is at its peak. Everything we can do to avoid any additional load will mean direct savings of fuel, manpower, transportation, and materials."

Tagged by Manhattan critics as the "biggest, richest and most spectacular variety show on the air today," the Radio Hall of Fame will make its second broadcast Sunday, December 12, 5 to 6 p. m. over the Blue network, with an all-star talent aggregation equal to that offered on the first program.

Ginny Simms, whose own Johnny Presents program is one of NBC's most popular programs, will furnish the glamour, with Red Skelton and Frank Fay furnishing the fun. The stage production picked for the second airing is "Carmen Jones," Billy Rose's super-production of the Bizet opera done with an all-Negro cast and a new version of the libretto by Oscar Hammerstein, 2nd, Harmonica virtuoso John Sebastian will also be heard.

Paul Whiteman's orchestra will furnish the music with Deems Taylor acting as master of ceremonies.
